Break-Through Talent:

Hudson, New York

Shows 3:00 p.m. & 8:00 p.m.

It's educational theatre at it's finest with this new musical production. This American pop fable illuminates the life and musical genius of a true original. The pop singer who wrote, performed and produced 24 Billboard hits over his 8 years at the top of the charts was also a pioneer in the Civil Rights movement and an inventor of musical styles that are still incorporated in pop and gospel music 50 years later.

Sam Cooke's early years in Mississippi, his rise to fame and his demons that ultimately lead to his untimely demise are explored in this drama, but it is well seasoned with humor, pathos and most of all great, great music.

Sam Cooke is directed by Esther Taylor Evan's and the production stage manager is Patricia Gallio, with music by Bruce Berky and choreography by Abby Lappen. It stars Stephen M. Jones, Evelyn Clarke, Dennis Washington and Michael Monasterial as Sam Cooke.

There is a suggested donation of $20.00.

Support "Living History!"

Programs at the Mount Gulian Historic Site bring Freed Slave and Daughter of Priviledge to life as two characters from 1848 will walk the Mount Gulian grounds and home this fall.

Mount Gulian Historic Site
145 Sterling Street
Beacon, NY 12508

James F. Brown, an emancipated slave and diarist, worked at Mount Gulian for 40 years. He shared a passion for gardening with Mary Anna Verplanck, his employer.

Actors Michael Monasterial of Beacon and Jean Moss of New Windsor recreate these historical figures.

Visitors can meet James and Mary Anna and participate in two living history programs, "From Slave to Mr. Brown" and "Kindred Spirits" on the days listed below. The first performance for each day will be at 1:30 and the second at 3:30. Both performances entail interaction (if so desired) with the characters. A tour of the house, barn, and garden follows
